

How To Use These Spreads

Welcome to the Major Arcana of The Tarot. No matter which deck you choose, you will find these cards in that deck. To use these spreads, pull out the Major Arcana that you want to work with and put that card in front of you before you shuffle the rest of your deck and pick the cards that correspond with the numbers in the spread. Focus on the energy of the card and allow yourself you see what about the card draws your attention. It could be a symbol, a color or maybe even a thought comes to mind. You can keep a journal next to you and do some automatic writing before your do your spread. By doing automatic writing, you are allowing your Higher Self to give you messages about the question you are asking of the Major Arcana. I wrote the questions as a guideline. You may ask those specific questions or you can formulate the questions to correspond with the question you want to ask. Tarot can give you answers as long as you know how to ask the right questions. Write your question down before asking. Keep the questions to the point and allow the cards to connect with you and reveal your answer. Tarot does not give yes or no answers, but more of a guide for you to understand the energies that are surrounding you at the time you are asking the question. Spend some time exploring each card. Meditate on the energy and absorb the image on the card inside your mind.

How To Get Answers from The Tarot Without Having a Deck

Did you know that you don't have to have a Tarot deck on you to consult the Tarot? This is where getting to know each card comes into play, but it does take time. All you need to do is pick a card each day and look at it. Meditate on it. Use the cards name when asking a question For example, "High Priestess, please tell me what I need to know about this situation." What does it mean to you? Keep in mind that the traditional meanings of the card don't always apply since the cards work for you and you may have come up with your own meaning of the card and that is perfectly okay. Once you have a card absorbed into your minds eye, then you can close your eyes, and call upon that card in your mind while you are thinking of a question or need an answer. This process takes time but can be very rewarding once you have all of the cards absorbed into your energy. Don't put too much pressure on yourself to memorize the meanings of the cards. Instead focus on absorbing the image of the card along with the question you ask of the card as well as the answer you get. Your life is a journey and Tarot maps that out for you. Enjoy the journey!

The Court Cards

The court cards that you pull to fill in your spread are separated into the suits of Fire (Wands), Air (Swords), Water (Cups) and Earth (Pentacles). They help to clarify the answers you get.

The Wands: Fire Energy: Leo, Aries, Sagittarius

In the Tarot, the Suit of Wands or Fire represents the element of Fire and is associated with passion, creativity, energy, and action. The Wands cards often depict scenes of growth, movement, and excitement, and are often associated with new beginnings, inspiration, and personal growth. The Suit of Wands typically represents the creative and intuitive aspects of our lives, and encourages us to take risks, pursue our passions, and embrace change and transformation. Whether you are seeking to ignite your creativity, explore new opportunities, or simply embrace the fire and passion within you, the Suit of Wands can offer valuable insights and guidance to help you navigate the journey ahead.

The Swords: Air Energy: Libra, Aquarius, Gemini

The suit of Swords is typically associated with the element of Air and represents the realm of the mind, thoughts, and communication.

The imagery on the Swords cards often depicts scenes of conflict, struggle, and challenge. This is because the Swords represent the power of the intellect and the sometimes painful truths that can be revealed through analysis and rational thinking. The Swords can also represent the need to make difficult decisions and to cut away things in our lives that are no longer serving us.

The Swords can be a powerful tool for self-reflection and growth, as they force us to confront the uncomfortable truths that we may otherwise try to ignore. Ultimately, however, the Swords remind us that the power of the mind can be both a blessing and a curse, and that it is important to find balance between our intellect and our emotions in order to live a fulfilling and authentic life.

The Cups: Water Energy: Scorpio, Pisces, Cancer

The suit of cups is one of the four suits of the tarot deck and is associated with emotions, relationships, creativity, and intuition. Cups are usually depicted as vessels, often with water flowing from them, representing the element of water.

In tarot readings, the suit of cups often represents matters of the heart. It can indicate emotional fulfillment, love, and happiness in relationships. Alternatively, it can represent emotional struggles, heartbreak, or unfulfilled desires. The suit of cups can also indicate creativity, artistic expression, and intuition. It suggests that we should follow our hearts and emotions, and trust our instincts.

The suit of cups is a reminder to pay attention to our feelings and emotions, and to nurture our relationships. It encourages us to express our emotions and to connect with others on a deeper level. Overall, the suit of cups is a powerful symbol of the human heart and its capacity for love, compassion, and creativity.

The Pentacles: Earth Energy: Capricorn, Taurus, Virgo

The suit of Pentacles is associated with the element of Earth, and represents material possessions, wealth, financial matters, and practical concerns.

In Tarot readings, Pentacles often indicate issues related to finances, career, and material possessions. They can also indicate a need to focus on the practical aspects of life, such as work, health, and home.

In addition to these more tangible meanings, Pentacles can also represent a person's connection to the physical world and their sense of stability and security. They can indicate a need to ground oneself and connect with nature, as well as a desire for stability and security in one's life.

Overall, the suit of Pentacles in Tarot can be a powerful tool for understanding and navigating the material world, and can provide valuable insights into one's financial, career, and personal life.

Spreads to Work With The Major Arcana.

The Fool

In Tarot, the Fool card is often depicted as a young man walking off a cliff, with a small dog at his feet. The Fool is the first card in the Major Arcana and represents new beginnings, possibilities, and taking a leap of faith. The Fool is associated with the element of air, which is related to communication, ideas, and thinking.

The card can also signify naivety, risk-taking, and being carefree. The Fool is someone who is not bound by convention or social norms, and who is willing to explore new ideas and experiences. However, this can also lead to the potential for danger or failure, as the Fool may not be fully aware of the consequences of their actions.

Overall, the Fool card represents the start of a journey, the beginning of a new phase in life, and the potential for growth and transformation. It encourages us to be open-minded, curious, and adventurous, while also being mindful of the risks and challenges that may lie ahead.

1. What Does This New Adventure Mean to me?
2. What Is Holding Me Back From Moving Forward?
3. How am I showing up for this new adventure?
4. Where is this leap of faith going to land me?

The Magician

The Magician Tarot card is a powerful symbol of manifestation and creation. It represents the power of the individual to harness the forces of the universe and bring their desires into being. The Magician is often depicted holding a wand or staff in one hand, pointing upwards towards the heavens, and a small object in the other hand, representing the power of the material world. The Magician is a master of both the physical and spiritual realms, and he uses his powers to create his reality.

In a Tarot reading, the appearance of the Magician card can indicate that the individual is in a position of power and has the ability to manifest their desires. It can also suggest that the individual needs to focus their energy and use their resources wisely in order to achieve their goals. The Magician is a reminder that we have the power within ourselves to create the life we want, and that we must be mindful of our thoughts and intentions in order to bring about positive change in our lives.

1. What should I manifest in passion and creativity?
2. What energy does my emotion take in this?

The High Priestess

The High Priestess is a tarot card that represents intuition, mystery, and the subconscious mind. It is the second card of the Major Arcana and is often associated with feminine energy and the moon. When this card appears in a reading, it can indicate that the querent should trust their intuition and pay attention to their dreams and inner voice. The High Priestess also represents hidden knowledge and secrets, suggesting that the querent may need to dig deeper to uncover the truth of a situation. Overall, the High Priestess encourages the querent to embrace their inner wisdom and trust in their own instincts.

1. What is my inner voice trying to tell me?
2. Why is my inner voice telling me this?
3. How can I take action?

The Empress

The Empress is the third card in the Major Arcana of the Tarot deck. It is a symbol of femininity, fertility, and nurturing. The Empress represents the mother archetype and is associated with the element of earth. She is often depicted as a pregnant woman seated on a throne surrounded by lush vegetation, symbolizing growth and abundance.

In a Tarot reading, the Empress card can represent creativity, abundance, and nurturing. It suggests a time of growth and prosperity in your life, or a need to focus on self-care and nurturing your own needs. The Empress may also represent a maternal figure or someone who is nurturing and caring towards you.

Overall, the Empress card encourages us to connect with our feminine energy, embrace our creativity, and focus on nurturing ourselves and those around us.

1. What am i creating?
What ideas are birthing

- to me?
2. What should I nurture in my life?
 3. How can I heighten my motherly/Goddess instincts?

The Emperor

The Emperor tarot card is a symbol of authority, power, and structure. It represents the masculine side of leadership, order, and organization. The Emperor is often depicted as a mature man sitting on a throne, holding a scepter and an orb, with a stern expression on his face. He represents the ability to make decisions based on logic and reason rather than emotions or intuition.

The Emperor is a card of stability and control. It suggests that you have the ability to take charge of a situation and lead others with confidence. This may be a time to assert your authority and make your presence known. You may need to establish some order and structure in your life or in a particular situation.

In a reading, the Emperor card can also indicate a need for discipline and self-control. It may be time to set some boundaries and take responsibility for your actions. This card can also suggest a need for organization and planning. It may be time to create a strategy and take action towards your goals.

1. What plan should I be making?

The Lovers

The Lovers card is one of the major arcana cards in the Tarot deck. It typically depicts a man and a woman standing or sitting together, surrounded by a bright light or a beautiful natural setting. The card is often associated with romantic love, but it can also represent other types of love, such as friendship or family love.

In Tarot readings, the Lovers card may suggest that you are facing a significant choice or decision related to love or relationships. It may indicate that you need to choose between two people or two paths in your love life. The card may also suggest that you are at a crossroads in your life and need to make a decision that will affect your future.

However, the Lovers card is not always about romantic love or relationships. It can also represent the union of opposites or the integration of conflicting aspects of your personality. It may suggest that you need to find a balance between your head and your heart, your masculine and feminine energies, or your conscious and unconscious mind.

Overall, the Lovers card is a powerful symbol of choice, harmony, and union. It encourages you to listen to your intuition, follow your heart, and choose the path that resonates with your deepest values and desires.

The Chariot

The Chariot is one of the major arcana cards in the Tarot deck. It is often depicted as a figure riding a chariot, pulled by two horses, one black and one white. The Chariot represents progress, determination, and self-control. It is a symbol of victory, willpower, and success through effort.

The card can also represent a journey, either physical or spiritual, that will require focus and discipline to complete. The horses are often interpreted as representing the conscious and subconscious mind, and the need to balance these two aspects of the self in order to achieve success.

In a Tarot reading, the Chariot can indicate that the querent (the person receiving the reading) is in a position of power and is able to achieve their goals through hard work and determination. It can also suggest that the querent needs to exercise more control over their own life and take responsibility for their own actions.

1. Am I going towards my goal?
2. What is the Sun energy moving forward?
3. What is the moon energy?
4. How can I create balance between the two energies?
5. How can I use that balance to move myself forward?

The Strength

The Strength Tarot card is a powerful symbol of inner strength, courage, and determination. In traditional Tarot decks, the card depicts a woman gently taming a lion, representing the ability to harness one's own passions and instincts in order to achieve a greater goal. The card often signifies a time when the individual must draw upon their own inner resources in order to overcome obstacles and challenges, showing resilience and fortitude in the face of adversity.

At its core, the Strength card is about mastering oneself, and finding the inner resolve to face difficult situations with grace and determination. It encourages the individual to tap into their inner power, and to use it to overcome obstacles and achieve their goals. Whether the challenges ahead are physical, emotional, or spiritual in nature, the Strength card offers a message of hope and inspiration, reminding us that we have the strength within us to face whatever comes our way.

1. Am I going towards my goal?
2. What is the Sun energy moving forward?
3. What is the moon energy?
4. How can I create balance between the two energies?
5. How can I use that balance to move myself forward?

The Hermit

The Hermit tarot card is a powerful symbol of introspection, solitude, and self-discovery. In the traditional Rider-Waite deck, the card depicts an old man holding a lantern, standing alone on a mountaintop. The Hermit represents a period of introspection and self-discovery, where one must retreat from the outside world to gain a deeper understanding of oneself.

The lantern that the Hermit holds represents the inner light of wisdom and truth that guides us on our path. The staff that the Hermit holds symbolizes the support and guidance that we can receive from our own inner wisdom. The Hermit encourages us to trust our own intuition and to seek answers within ourselves.

The Hermit invites us to take a step back from the noise and distractions of the outside world and to focus on our inner selves. Through self-reflection and introspection, we can gain a deeper understanding of our own desires, fears, and motivations. Ultimately, the Hermit teaches us to trust ourselves and to find our own path in life.

1. What answers are within me?
2. How have my lessons/ experiences led me to this answer?
3. How can I learn from this?
4. How can I guide others in these situations

The Wheel of Fortune

The Wheel of Fortune tarot card is a symbol of change, cycles, and destiny. It is depicted as a large wheel with various symbols and creatures surrounding it. The wheel represents the ever-changing cycles of life, with ups and downs, good times and bad, and the constant movement of the universe. The four creatures on the wheel represent the four fixed signs of the zodiac, and they also symbolize the four elements: earth, air, fire, and water.

When the Wheel of Fortune appears in a tarot reading, it can indicate that change is coming, and that destiny is at work. It can represent a turning point in one's life, or a new phase of growth and development. The card can also suggest that one needs to be open to new opportunities and possibilities, and to go with the flow of life rather than resisting it.

Overall, the Wheel of Fortune tarot card is a reminder that life is constantly changing, and that we must embrace change and trust in the journey. It encourages us to stay positive and optimistic, even in the face of adversity, and to have faith in the universe and its mysterious ways.

1. What is bringing in my fortune?
2. What could be in the way?
3. How can I prepare for this?

Justice

The Justice Tarot card is one of the most important cards in the Tarot deck. It represents fairness, balance, and impartiality. The card often shows a figure in a judge's robe, holding a sword in one hand and scales in the other. The sword symbolizes the power of reason and clarity of thought, while the scales represent the balance that is necessary for justice to be served.

When this card appears in a Tarot reading, it often represents a time of decision-making and the need to make a fair and just choice. It may also indicate legal matters, contracts, or negotiations. The Justice card reminds us that we need to be honest and fair in our dealings with others, and that we should strive for balance and harmony in our lives.

In a spiritual sense, the Justice card can also represent karma, or the idea that what goes around comes around. It reminds us that we will ultimately be held accountable for our actions, and that the universe has a way of balancing things out in the end.

1. What decision led to this?

3. How do I release blame?
4. Is Karma on my side?

The Hanged Man

The Hanged Man is one of the most mysterious and intriguing cards in the tarot deck. In a typical depiction, the card shows a man hanging upside down by one foot from a tree or wooden beam. The man's arms are often crossed behind his back, and his face is peaceful and serene.

In tarot readings, the Hanged Man is often associated with sacrifice, surrender, and letting go. The card suggests that the key to moving forward in life may be to let go of old patterns of thinking and behavior that are no longer serving you. It may also indicate that a period of waiting or suspension is necessary before you can take the next step on your journey.

Some interpretations of the Hanged Man suggest that the figure in the card represents a spiritual seeker who has willingly embraced a state of surrender in order to gain deeper insight and understanding. In this sense, the card can be seen as a symbol of spiritual growth and enlightenment.

Overall, the meaning of the Hanged Man tarot card is complex and multi-layered. It encourages us to look beyond our immediate circumstances and consider the bigger picture, reminding us that sometimes the greatest wisdom comes from letting go and surrendering to the unknown.

1. What do I need to see differently in this situation?
2. What am I not seeing?

Death

The Death card in Tarot is a powerful and often misunderstood card. Contrary to popular belief, it does not signify actual physical death. Instead, it represents the ending of a major phase or aspect of your life that may be difficult but necessary in order to make way for the new. The Death card can also symbolize transformation, rebirth, and renewal. It is a reminder that sometimes we need to let go of the old in order to make room for the new and that change, though sometimes painful, can ultimately lead to growth and positive transformation. The Death card can be a powerful and transformative symbol in a Tarot reading, indicating the potential for personal growth and positive change.

1. What change is taking place?

Temperance

The Temperance tarot card is often associated with balance, harmony, and moderation. In the traditional Rider-Waite tarot deck, the card depicts an angel pouring water from one cup to another, representing the need to find balance between different aspects of life. This can include balancing work and play, emotions and logic, or different relationships in one's life.

The Temperance card suggests that the key to success and fulfillment is not to indulge in excess or extremes, but rather to find a middle ground and maintain a sense of equilibrium. The card can also suggest that patience and self-control are necessary in order to achieve one's goals. In a tarot reading, the Temperance card may indicate that the querent needs to find balance in their life or to exercise more self-discipline in order to achieve their desired outcome.

1. How can I bring balance into my life?

2. What is blocking my flow of abundance?
3. Should I partner with another energy to achieve balance?
4. How can I balance my emotions?

The Devil

The Devil card is one of the 78 cards in a tarot deck, and its meaning can vary depending on the interpretation of the reader and the context of the reading. Generally, the Devil card represents temptation, materialism, and negative influences that can lead to self-destructive behavior. It can suggest that the person is feeling trapped or powerless in a situation, or that they are behaving in a way that is harmful to themselves or others.

However, some readers interpret the Devil card more positively, seeing it as a symbol of creativity, passion, and healthy sexuality. They may view the card as a call to embrace one's desires and take risks in pursuit of personal growth and fulfillment.

Ultimately, the meaning of the Devil card is subjective and depends on the individual's perspective and the context of the reading. It is important to approach tarot with an open mind and a willingness to explore different interpretations.

The Moon

The Moon is a tarot card that is often associated with mystery, intuition, and the unknown. It is the 18th card in the Major Arcana, and its imagery often depicts a full moon shining down on a landscape that is shrouded in darkness. In some versions of the card, there are also two dogs or wolves howling at the moon.

The Moon card represents the journey of the soul, and the path that we take when we explore the deeper aspects of our psyche. It is a card that encourages us to embrace our intuition and to trust our inner voice, even when we are faced with uncertainty or fear. The Moon also reminds us that there are many things in life that are not always as they seem, and that we must be willing to look beyond the surface in order to discover the truth.

In tarot readings, the Moon can represent a time of transition or transformation, where we are asked to confront our fears and to step into the unknown. It can also indicate a need for introspection and self-reflection, as well as a willingness to explore the shadow aspects of ourselves. Ultimately, the Moon is a card that asks us to trust the journey, even when we cannot see the path ahead.

1. What's distracting me in this situation?
2. How can I clear confusion?
3. How can I see the path that is best for me?
4. What is my intuition trying to tell me?

The Sun

The Sun tarot card is one of the most positive cards in the deck, representing success, joy, and positivity. This card depicts a bright, radiant sun shining in the sky, with a young child riding a white horse in the foreground. The child represents innocence, joy, and happiness, while the horse symbolizes strength, vitality, and freedom.

When the Sun card appears in a tarot reading, it is often seen as a sign of good fortune and success. It suggests that you are on the right path and that your hard work and efforts will pay off in a big way. This card also represents a time of great joy and happiness, as well as a sense of freedom and liberation.

In addition to its positive connotations, the Sun card can also represent clarity, truth, and enlightenment. It encourages you to embrace your inner light, to be true to yourself, and to let your spirit shine. Overall, the Sun tarot card is a powerful symbol of positivity, success, and joy.

2. Who am I sharing my joy with?
3. How can I stay focused on my happy path?

Judgement

This card represents a moment of awakening or reckoning, a time when an individual must face the consequences of their actions and take responsibility for their choices. The card depicts a scene of resurrection, with people rising from their graves and ascending towards the heavens.

This card often symbolizes a period of transition or change, where old patterns and habits are left behind in order to make way for new opportunities and experiences. It can also represent a time of self-reflection and introspection, where an individual is called upon to examine their beliefs and values. Ultimately, the Judgment card is a reminder that we must all face the consequences of our actions and that true growth and transformation can only occur when we are willing to take an honest and introspective look at ourselves.

1. What is being judged from my life?
2. What do I need to forgive?
3. What do I need to release?
4. What lessons have I learned from this wake up call?
5. How can I move towards my higher calling?

The World

The World is the final card of the Major Arcana in tarot. It depicts a female figure surrounded by a laurel wreath, holding two batons or wands. The World card signifies completion, achievement, and fulfillment. It represents a sense of unity and wholeness, as well as a feeling of connection to the universe. The laurel wreath symbolizes victory and success, while the two batons or wands represent the balance of the masculine and feminine energies. The World card also suggests that the individual has reached a state of enlightenment, where they understand the interconnectedness of all things and their place in the grand scheme of things. Overall, the World card can be seen as an extremely positive card, indicating a sense of accomplishment and a feeling of being at peace with oneself and the world.
